MARINE OFFICER FOUND DEAD IN CAR NEAR HERE

Major John A. Tebbs, 52-year-old veteran of 23 years of service with the Marine Corps, was found dead in his parked automobile at Heidlersburg shortly after 6 o'clock Monday evening. The cause of death has not been determined but investigators said there was nothing to indicate the officer had died of other than natural causes.

Major Tebbs, who had been relieved of his command of the Marine detachment at the Mechanicsburg Naval depot at special ceremonies Monday morning, was enroute to his home near Hamilton, Va., and was to have been retired after four months.

To Conduct Autopsy

The windows of the car were open and nothing was disarranged. The local investigation was conducted by state police and Dr. C. G. Crist, Adams county coroner. The body was brought to the Bender funeral home here where it was viewed later in the evening by a group of Marine officers from Mechanicsburg. At 5 o'clock this morning it was removed by military authorities and presumably was taken to Philadelphia where a post-mortem examination was to be performed to determine the cause of death.

Monday morning Major Tebbs had turned over the command of the Marine detachment at Mechanicsburg to Major John H. Auchmuty of Tamaqua, who was among the officers who came here Monday evening.

Reports from Mechanicsburg said the Marine officer, veteran of overseas service and holder of the Order of the Purple Heart, was apparently in good health as he ended three years of service there. The farewell ceremony took place before a company formation of officers and enlisted men of the Marine command there.

Major Auchmuty is a veteran of 15 months' service in the Pacific.

President Bender was directed by the club to appoint a special committee to prepare fitting resolutions on the death of William A. Beales, former president of the club and for a number of years chairman of its committee on blind work. Beales was one of seven members of the club in service and is the first to give his life. He died of wounds in the Pacific where he served with the Seabees.

The program for the evening was in charge of Fred Faber who introduced Miss Mary Clare Myers, daughter of Mrs. C. J. Myers, Chambersburg street. Miss Myers played a Chopin waltz and Mendelssohn's "Spinning Song" on the piano.

President Bender and Vice President Bream presided at the meeting with about 40 members in attendance. Plans were discussed for representation at the district Lions convention to be held at Harrisburg on June 26.

A letter was read from Major Stewart Moyer, member of the club who is serving in Germany, and the clubmen wrote chain letters to Moyer and five other members in the armed forces.

ASKS SLASH IN SUPPORT ORDER; COURT RAISES IT

Judge W. C. Sheely increased the support order payment, imposed some time ago on Earl Forry, from $85 to $100 per month for the support of his wife and three children.

Forry had appealed to the court for a reduction in the support order. On the stand Monday afternoon he told the court that he thought $75 would be a fair adjustment. The court delved into Forry's present earning capacity and then increased the support order by $15.

Guy Bolen, Carlisle, formerly of Gettysburg, was sentenced to six months in jail for failure to comply with a court order to pay $12 a week for the support of a daughter.

Melvin Wise, Hanover, was sentenced to two concurrent terms of six months each in the county jail after pleading guilty to two burglary charges. He was paroled by Judge W. C. Sheely with the proviso that he make restitution to Philip and Charles McCaffery for a saddle and a pair of horse clippers and pay the costs of prosecution within 30 days.

Other Decisions

Robert Luckenbaugh, of Blooming Grove, was ordered to pay his wife, Clara E. Luckenbaugh, of Aspers, four dollars a week for her support. Raymond Shoffstall, York Springs R. KEEP MANAGERS OF CEMETERY

Lot-holders of the Evergreen cemetery association re-elected managers and officers at the annual meeting Monday evening in the court house.

Those re-elected include: J. Elmer Musselman, Dr. Milton H. Valentine, Dr. Charles H. Huber, Philip R. Bickle, Donald P. McPherson, Esq., Radford H. Lippy, J. Milton Bender, and George T. Raffensperger. The former officers were re-elected, Mr. Bickle, president; Dr. Valentine, vice-president, Mr. Musselman, secretary; and The Gettysburg National bank, treasurer; D. Sandoe Kitzmiller, superintendent.

Reports given by the officers showed that the endowment fund has been increased during the past year to $73,432.27 and that 67 more lots were provided with permanent care.

During the year the roads in the original cemetery were resurfaced at a cost of $1,880. Mention was made of two new signs, which were donated by William E. Sigmor, for the entrances to the two cemeteries.

In the report of the president it was pointed out that additional revenues would be required from time to time for the maintenance and beautification of the cemetery, and that such funds will have to come from some other sources than those now available. Increased labor and material costs have increased the budget to the point where income is barely sufficient to meet ordinary expenses; and rebuilding of roads, planting of shrubbery and the care of the trees entail heavy additional outlays at various times. Endowments provide for the individual lots but these funds are spent on the lots, and are not used for the care of the property at large. It was suggested that public-spirited citizens might remember the cemetery in their wills, and that such bequests would permit the further care and beautification of the cemetery.

'45 SCHOOL TAX RATE HERE KEPT AT 20 MILLS

The budget for 1945-1946 in the Gettysburg school district was adopted by the local school board Monday evening on the basis of a continuation of the 20-mill tax rate. At the same meeting the directors formally accepted the previously announced resignation of Melvin Dry, athletic director at the high school. His position has not been filled.

The board also voted to abolish the temporary emergency salary increase by the district on the basis that the new teachers' pay bill will provide sufficient to make up the difference in teachers' salaries.

The treasurer's report was read and accepted and the budget for the coming year was accepted.

J. Herbert Weikert was re-elected tax collector with his remuneration to be two per cent of taxes collected plus penalties.

The $144,732 budget provides for total expenditures of $136,010 as compared with estimated expenditures for the year ending this month of $124,645. Estimated receipts for the coming year were placed at $144,732 with an expected balance of $7,318.42 and for next year at $144,212 with an estimated balance at the close of the year of $8,202.

Sister Addresses Local Rotary Club

Sister Mary Colman of the Maryknoll order, and a sister of Dr. J. Walter Coleman, superintendent of the Gettysburg battlefield, who is visiting here after spending three years of internment as a prisoner of the Japanese in the Philippines described her experiences at the regular meeting of the Rotary club Monday night.

Sister Mary, a member of the Maryknoll order for nineteen years, described the early days of her imprisonment in a convent before she was transferred to Los Banos.

She spoke with pride of the American soldiers who brought freedom back to the Philippines and in high praise of the loyalty of the Filipino people.

Tokyo Reports New Landing On Okinawa Island

By ROBBINS COONS

Guam, June 12 (AP)—A surprise American landing on the southern beaches of Okinawa, which would completely encircle the main Japanese force trapped on a fortified plateau, was reported today by Tokyo radio as the doomed Nipponese ignored an offer to negotiate a surrender.

With the landing, the enemy broadcast said, U. S. 10th Army troops "began an all-out offensive" to wind up the campaign against the estimated 15,000 Nipponese still alive. No mention of the reported landing has been made by U. S. headquarters.

"Destruction of all Japanese resistance on this island is merely a matter of days," said Lt. Gen. Simon Bolivar Buckner, Jr., Tenth Army commander, in an ultimatum to the Nipponese commander.

From Buckner's headquarters on Okinawa, Associated Press Correspondent Al Dopping reported three copies of an offer to negotiate an end of the campaign, were dropped near a cave believed to be the Japanese commander's headquarters although Buckner knew there was only one chance in 100 of its being accepted. The deadline passed with no reply.

Use Phosphorous Shells

It was the first time in the central or western Pacific campaigns that such an offer has been made. The surrender offer brought no lull in the American three division assault on Yaeju-Dake, three-mile long, cave riddled, fortified escarpment on which enemy survivors are making their death stand.

Japanese for the first time were reported firing phosphorous shells in a desperate effort to halt the Yanks.

Attacking as savagely as the Japanese fought back, Maj. Gen. James L. Bradley's 96th Division killed hundreds of the enemy sealing them in caves as they fought step by step up a steep northern cliff of the Yaeju-Dake escarpment yesterday.

Fifty caves on the coral cliff face were sealed with demolition blasts in two hours. In one large cave, remnants of a Japanese company were caught by surprise before they could man their guns.

Australians Broaden Beachhead On Borneo

By SPENCER DAVIS

Manila, June 12 (AP)—Australian Ninth Division troops, rapidly exploiting their smooth-ly-executed landings on British Borneo, deepened their hold on the great Brunei bay fleet anchorage today and trudged southwestward within 40 miles of the important Seria oil fields against surprisingly scanty Japanese opposition.

When the U. S. Seventh fleet put the Australians and Gen. Douglas MacArthur ashore Sunday morning, the Japanese were found largely to have fled before the terrifying weight of the preliminary naval and air bombardments.

In the two days since, sporadic machine gun and rifle fire and an occasional mortar burst have been the only reported enemy resistance.

The ground forces in the reinvansion of Borneo were entirely Australian, but the U. S. fleet played a major role in the smooth-running operation. Rear Adm. Forrest B. Royal, amphibious commander, said more than 25,000 American naval personnel participated. An Australian cruiser and smaller warcraft also took part.

Some Resistance

The Australian troops quickly seized the coastal village of Brooke-ton, the island of Muara, the Labuan island airfield and principal town of Victoria, and marched through sticky heat on Brunei, capital of the British protectorate of Brunei, 16 miles southwest of Brooke-ton.

The chief fight put up by the enemy thus far was reported at the Labuan airfield, where two small but determined pockets of resistance required several hours for elimination.

Australian cavalry commandos made a small landing on the mainland side of the island to clean out Japanese mortars and drive toward Tambalai airstrip, which the enemy had been constructing at the far end of the six-by-ten-mile isle.

The captured Labuan strip was bomb-pitted and knee deep in lush jungle grass, but Australian engineers went to work immediately and expected to have it operational quickly.

AUXILIARY OF USWV INSTALLS NEW OFFICERS

Newly-elected officers of the Auxiliary of the Pennsylvania Department of the United Spanish War Veterans were installed this afternoon in St. James Lutheran chapel as the Auxiliary's council of administration conducted the last meeting of its two-day session which opened here Monday morning.

The installing officer was Mrs. Hattie B. Trazenfeld, Philadelphia, past department president, a past national president and now a representative of the national council. This morning Mrs. Trazenfeld brought official greetings from the national council to the Pennsylvania department council in session here.

On the second ballot this morning Agnes Foy, Wilkes-Barre, was elected assistant guard from among 6 women nominated Monday. Three dropped out on the second ballot in which the successful candidate topped the votes received by Pearl Martz, Greensburg, and Margaret Cox, Erie.

COLLEGE GRAD BLAZES TRAIL ON OKINAWA

Itoman Beach, Okinawa, June 9 (Delayed) (AP)—Lt. Walter F. Kuhn, Jr., of 2407 North Fifth street, Harrisburg, Pa., blazed the first motor trail through the cratered and mined Japanese roads to the southwestern coast just north of Itoman as the U. S. First Marine Division Quartermaster raced to catch up with the swift-moving infantry on Okinawa. (Lieutenant Kuhn is a graduate of Gettysburg college in the class of 1940.)

Cpl. Alfred C. Dowse, of Scranton, was in an amphibious tractor.

Lt. (jg) Frank Schwartz, of Beaver, Pa., Navy physician, said the situation of the Seventh Marine regiment on this isolated beach was the worst he ever seen.

"We had never been so far ahead of our transportation facilities before," he said. "Fortunately, we had comparatively light casualties."

"I don't know what we would have done if they had been heavy. As it was, our whole sick bay is full of people. The corpsmen had to give up their blankets to patients."

"The corpsmen had to carry the patients out three of four miles over slippery, muddy hills, then had to load with supplies coming back."

"Where there were roads, a couple of our ambulances were shot up. One of the cooks stepped on a land mine planted at night near his fox-hole—he had both legs blown up."

"A corpsman warned every one not to step on mines, hurried to attend the cook and touched one off himself. He also had both legs blown off and died a short while later."

SEEK MEN TO REPAIR SHIPS

The "Battle of Repair" is on and workers from this area are needed to win it, E. A. Crouse, manager of the local U. S. Employment Office, declared today in announcing intensification of the program to recruit skilled workers and helpers for jobs at shipyards at Pearl Harbor and the West Coast.

30,000 workers are required including 15,000 electricians, machinists, sheetmetal workers, cooper-smiths, riggers, radio mechanics and other skilled workers. A similar number of semi-skilled and unskilled workers are also urgently needed.

"Time lost in getting a ship back into action adds to the length of the war," Mr. Crouse said.

The Civil Service Commission and the War Manpower Commission's U. S. Employment Service which are recruiting workers for the Navy are making arrangements to move workers to the areas where they are most urgently needed. These arrangements include free transportation, provisions for housing of both single and married men.

Detailed information on how to enlist in the "Battle of Repair" may be obtained at the U. S. Employment Service office, Baltimore street.

Tenants To Expect Electrical Gadgets

Pittsburgh, June 12 (AP)—Apartment house landlords who fall after the war, to provide such gadgets as electric dishwashers, home freezers, electric washing machines and driers, may find themselves without tenants, the Institute of Real Estate Management was told today.

Irving W. Clark, of Westinghouse Electric corporation, said the days of tenant "waiting lists" are numbered and that "a highly competitive era will replace the present wartime period of apartment scarcity." He asserted that "far-sighted management will make sure they can satisfy the electric demands of their clients."

"New homes and apartments, properly wired to handle all these labor-saving conveniences, will make obsolete those not modernized," he said.

The formula requires that the United States, Russia, Britain, China and France, as member of the proposed world security council, would have to concur before the council could take any step toward settling an international dispute—except that any nation party to a dispute would refrain from voting on peaceful settlement measures.

Plan Final Action

The main issue before the United Nations Conference committee which has the formula in hand is an amendment by Evatt. It would eliminate the concurrence requirement, and therefore the veto, from peaceful settlements. It does not, however, challenge the concurrence requirement on use of force by the council.

The committee scheduled one meeting for the day and another for the night in its determination to wind up action on the veto as quickly as possible. It has been debating since Friday.

The Big-Five sought first to rally enough votes to defeat Evatt's amendment and, second, enough to win approval for the formula as it stands.

Move Near Adjournment

Other conference work moved along in high gear toward possible completion of the United Nations Charter a week from tomorrow. There were three main developments:

1. A commission planning the security council scheduled a mid-afternoon meeting to receive the complete report of its committee on arrangements for using political, economic and military measures in future efforts to enforce peace.

The committee's proposals, its report states, would make military action by each United Nation, upon orders of the security council, "an obligation which none can shirk." It provides for a network of treaties between the council and member nations to make armed forces available for peace enforcement.

2. Plans for an international social and economic council won approval by acclamation of another commission yesterday with the formal prediction that it would "carry a message of hope to scores of millions of people." Its avowed purpose is to improve the lot of peoples all over the world.

3. A proposal that the all-nation general assembly be empowered either to approve or to disapprove the work of the 11-nation security council was voted down 9 to 7 by two subcommittees, meeting jointly.

4. A committee planning for regional defense arrangements under the world security system—one of the big issues early in the conference—completed its work with preparation of a report to go before the security council commission.

The vote, a standard unit of electricity, was named for an Italian physicist Alessandro Volta.

EISENHOWER IS GIVEN LONDON'S HIGHEST HONOR

London, June 12 (AP)—All London paid homage to Gen. Eisenhower today, bestowing upon him the honor of freedom of the city, highest civic honor the capital of the empire can bestow.

Accepting the honor, Eisenhower said "humility must always be the portion of any man who receives acclaim earned in the blood of followers and the sacrifices of his friends."

The American general, seated in a carriage drawn by a pair of bays, was escorted in triumph from Temple Bar to the Guildhall, where the ceremonies took place.

"Good Old Ike"

Thousands of Britons and American soldiers lined the route of the procession and cheered the smiling supreme commander as he rode through the flag-banked streets, past the gaping scars of many an aerial bombardment.

Eisenhower waved genially and at times saluted to the happy crowd, from which shouts of "good old Ike" went up frequently.

Lively cheering went up as the crowd spotted Prime Minister Churchill.

The trip to the Guildhall required about 15 minutes. There the general was received by the Lord Mayor, Sir Frank Alexander, and the Court of the Common Council.

Presented With Sword

Amid all the colorful tradition of historic London, Eisenhower was presented a sword in token of his victory over Germany. A weapon used by the Duke of Wellington at Waterloo was lent by a museum for the occasion, because a special sword being forged by the maker of the famous Stalingrad victory blade is not yet finished.

Eisenhower flew to London from his headquarters at Frankfurt-on-the-Main yesterday.

Officially Eisenhower became an "honorary freeman of the city of London." According to custom only a British citizen who has paid his "Scot," an ancient tax levied by the corporation, can be made a freeman. So the Allied commander in chief did not receive the usual scroll.

The supreme commander is expected to go to Washington next Monday. Presumably after that he will return to Europe.

He told a press conference last night that he knew of no plans for him to go to the Pacific, declaring "so far as I know, my job is right here in Europe."

Wilbur F. Sites Gets Promotion

A 7th AAF Heavy Bomber Base in The Palau—Wilbur F. Sites, 22, of Fairfield, Pa., nose gunner on a 7th AAF Liberator bomber smashing Jap barriers in the Pacific, has been promoted to sergeant.

Sergeant Sites is giving around-the-clock support to his Liberator squadron's record attack against enemy bases in the Philippines and northern Palau. To keep his skill at peak level, he also attends a squadron ground school giving instruction in the latest techniques of Liberator operation.

Sergeant Sites wears the Asiatic-Pacific ribbon. He entered the Pacific theater last February. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mack Sites, live in Fairfield. A farmer before entering the Army in February, 1944, he was graduated from Fairfield high school in 1943.

Swisher is president of the board. VOTE NEAR ON VETO PROVISION AT CONFERENCE

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER (AP Diplomatic News Editor)

San Francisco, June 12 (AP)—Both sides in the United Nations debate over the big-power veto decided today that the time had arrived to stop talking and start voting.

On this point Foreign Minister Herbert V. Evatt, of Australia, and Senator Tom Connolly, of the United States, opposing leaders, agreed. It appeared that the veto voting formula would be approved, but with several countries, which do not like it, not balloting.

The formula requires that the United States, Russia, Britain, China and France, as member of the proposed world security council, would have to concur before the council could take any step toward settling an international dispute—except that any nation party to a dispute would refrain from voting on peaceful settlement measures.

LIST PROBLEMS OF OCCUPATION OF GERMAN AREA

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

Until V-E Day a common American attitude seemed to be "let the Russians and Poles occupy Germany. They'll teach them what's what. We and the British are too busy." Now that the Russians are to occupy more than half the country, and the British an overwhelmingly important share of the remainder, pride seems to have taken the saddle and fear is expressed because American ideals will rule a lesser area.

Apparently not much consideration is being given to the angle that he who occupies the least of Germany is likely to come out with the smallest headache. Nor to the geographical accidents which make the present occupation zones natural. Nor to the important share of responsibility America is carrying in Italy. Nor to the fact that all Europe, ally and enemy alike, looks toward America for help in rehabilitation, a burden not resting so heavily on the other victors.

No "Innocent Bystanders"
The Poles, under the Russians, are annexing Silesia, Germany's great eastern industrial area. The lines have not been clarified but Britain and France presumably will handle the great proportion of industry remaining in the west.

Americans occupy areas which as a whole are less devoutly Nazi and less militaristic than the Russian area. When Germany is willing to trade her militaristic tradition, her tradition of superiority, for better things than can be obtained under occupation; when she realizes that peace even with privations is better than aggrandizement at the expense of war, then the less warlike areas of the south are far more likely to provide her leadership.

Nobody is being taken in by the "innocent bystanders" of southern and western Germany. The German population is responsible for the crimes of Germany. The people have convicted themselves in many ways besides their free election in 1932, when Adolf Hitler's Nazis won a 5,000,000 majority out of 19,000,000 votes.

Must Wipe Out Junkers
But it is from the more northerly areas that we receive reports of undying Nazism, of wires across the roads to decapitate jeep drivers, of propagandists still trying to spread disunion between the allies.

There is wide agreement that the Junkers must be wiped out. One part of this program is to break up their estates, at which the Russians and Poles are experts. There is wide agreement that Germany must never in foreseeable time have the industry with which to conduct a war. The British and the French have many reasons for seeing to this.

America believes strongly in education for peace. But such a program is like gardening—very difficult unless there is some fertility in the ground. If there is any such fertility in Germany it would seem most likely to be found in the southern area.

Through chance or design, the occupation zones fall into a pattern which, to the least, could have been a great deal worse.

Restrict Dealers On "Warranted" Sales

To protect buyers who pay warranted prices for used passenger automobiles, trucks and motorcycles, the OPA announced today that only sellers who have adequate reconditioning and service facilities will be permitted to charge warranted prices after August 1.

A warranted vehicle is a vehicle in good operating condition and carrying a written guarantee under which the seller agrees to make stated repairs at 50 per cent of his normal charges during the 30 days following sale or the first 1,000 miles of operation, whichever comes first.

Forms upon which sellers may apply to OPA for permission to sell used cars, trucks and motorcycles at warranted prices are now available at War Price and Rationing Boards.

Sellers who want to charge warranted prices should obtain these application forms immediately, fill them out and mail them to their district OPA offices.

On these applications sellers must supply OPA with information about their repair facilities or the facilities of their service suppliers.

Sellers who show repair facilities that qualify them to charge warranty prices will be sent an "authorization to sell" at warranted prices.

No seller can charge warranty prices on and after August 1 unless he has this authorization. He must display his "authorization to sell" in place of business.

REPRIEVE

Kansas City, (AP)—Housewives here believe that long-awaited great day has dawned at last—cooks and laundresses are besieging their erstwhile victims for jobs. Every woman who ran an aid for domestic help in Sunday's Kansas City Star reported she has received from 4 to 25 replies. Furthermore, the women say, the applicants are the pre-war variety instead of the "don't get tough with me" model.

329 Are Killed In Mishaps, 4 Months

Harrisburg, June 12 (AP)—The Bureau of Highway Safety reported today that 329 persons were killed in traffic accidents in Pennsylvania the first four months of 1945.

Pedestrian deaths dropped 66 to 157, Philadelphia leading in reductions with a total of 32 for the period against 51 in 1944.

Montgomery led counties showing increased fatalities, listing 17 or seven more than last year.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Sir:
Yesterday, I signed a statement to the fact that I am to make myself available after the war is over, if I am alive, to Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Studios at Culver City, California, where I will be given a screen test to become a motion picture star. A talent scout from Culver City was in Memphis and I was sitting beside him at Loew's State in Memphis. The name of the picture was "The Song of Bernadette." I had become emotionally affected by this picture and he noticed it. He looked at me and asked me if I had ever met him before and I said I hadn't, and he said he was sure he had seen me somewhere before. I told him where I was from and he asked me if I had ever been in any plays and I told him I had been in a few. He asked me to name one of the plays I was in and I told him "The House Without a Key," and immediately he said he knew he had seen me before, because he had seen me in that Senior Play last April on the 28th.

He said he wanted to talk to me the very night of the play, but he had to leave in a hurry and he expected to see me soon after that but he never got back to Gettysburg after that. I was never so surprised in all my life. I always wanted to become an actor, but I never dreamed I'd get such an opportunity. Just because I am going to take a screen test, it doesn't mean that I will become a star, but Mr. Davis, the talent scout, said he was sure I would make good. He is going to be in Memphis for about three months and he is going to give me all the advice he possibly can.

P. S. If I make good, my stage name will be Dick Randolph.

Yours sincerely,
HARRY RICHARD MOSER

TRUMAN TAKES MIDDLE-OF-ROAD POLICY SO FAR

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, June 12 (AP)—President Truman, in office two months today, is still a puzzle to Liberals and Conservatives. They're trying to decide whether he's leaning to the left or right.

But a study of what he has done indicates—if it indicates anything—two things:

1. That he has been walking solidly down the middle of the road, picking for key jobs men he thinks can do the job. Because he's chosen shrewdly, perhaps, his choices have brought no screams from left or right.

2. That he remembers his old friends, to an astonishing degree, and has a deep feeling for fellow-Missourians. Four of his eight top appointments have gone to men from his home state.

What Liberals Say
Liberals say: "You can't claim he's favoring the Conservatives in his domestic policy because:

"He's asked Congress to increase unemployment pay to $25 a week for jobless workers with dependents; and he tells Congress it should not let the Fair Employment Practice Committee (FEPC) die for lack of funds."

But—before becoming president, Mr. Truman repeatedly warned of the perils of unemployment after Germany fell.

And in supporting the FEPC—created by President Roosevelt to seek to prevent job discrimination in war plants because of color, race or creed—he was following FDR's lead and his own record. He had voted repeatedly for funds to keep the FEPC operating.

Leaves From Diary Of War Correspondent

By WILLIAM F. BONI
(Substituting for Hal Boyle)

Hamburg, (AP)—This once-proud Hanseatic city, second largest in the Reich, is a strange place these days.

In it you see German soldiers in uniform giving directions to British dispatch riders, two high smoke-blackened flak towers that stand out like fortresses of the future amid the rubble of St. Paul, the once electric-lighting dancing girl still outlined on the facade of a burned-out theater and commuters pouring out of the huge shell of the main railway station.

Despite its many and heavy bombings, Hamburg is by no means flattened. Large sections still stand and the docks are in good enough repair so that the first Allied ships bringing bunker coal for British occupation forces are expected to dock any day.

Salute From Nazis

Yet there are huge areas where nothing lives except possible stray rats and other sections where there still is the odor of roasted coffee from warehouses smashed in air raids long past.

Inconspicuously, street cars run over most of the main lines. Subway and elevated trains also are operating at about 60 per cent normal. The electric railway to Altona and other suburbs is operating virtually on a normal basis.

In the city you see hundreds of German officers and soldiers going about their business. These are capitulated troops, not prisoners of war, so you see them in staff cars, trucks and other automobiles, on bicycles and on foot. Because you are in Allied uniform, the German soldiers on police traffic duty quite likely will salute as you go by.

Car Draws Stares

There were 1,900,000 persons in Hamburg at its population peak. There are only 700,000 less than that here now, even though in addition to St. Paul there was a huge eastern section which was completely burned out in late July 1943, by raids that started such fires fruit trees in the vicinity had a second flowering.

There are many persons, who, from their reactions to noise or a jeep horn, may be "bomb happy." But there is no one on the street who looks as obviously underfed as the persons you see in Amsterdam or Rotterdam. A vast majority of them here are far better dressed.

Driving around Hamburg in an American automobile draws stares because there are hardly any Americans here. The reaction of little children is curious. Quite a large number of them will wave just as do the kids in Holland. Others yell out something which I have been unable to catch so far because we were going too fast at the time. But from the sound I am sure it is not complimentary.

"I'd sure go out of business if I depended on repairs to GAS equipment . . ."

Says Hank Handyman

"I'm busy on lots of other jobs that have put a strain on my service during the war, but peace or war, I'd soon be out of business if I had to sit around waiting for calls to repair Gas ranges or refrigerators, or most any kind of Gas equipment. It has the strength of steel and no parts that wear out. It is easy to get at for cleaning—keeping out corrosion and rust. Yes, though my service shop depends on helping my neighbors in emergencies, the folks who use Gas appliances seldom have to call on me. Which is mighty fine for them, of course."

For years of carefree service, look to Gas equipment in your home for these important jobs—cooking, refrigeration, hot water, home heating. And there's the new Gas wonder—summer cooling by the flame that will brighten your future. Don't overlook it in your postwar planning. For full details, see your Gas Equipment Dealer or your local Gas Company Office.

WORK

"Where is the road to the post ahead?"
A youngster inquired, and an old man said:
"I missed it myself; but, I know today
That the road called 'Work' is the only way."

"Time was I fancied my work was hid;
That no one would notice the task I did.
I sulked at orders, and frowned at toil
And sneered at the burners of mid-night oil."

"I counted the hours, and measured the pay
And I did no more than my stint each day.
So, here I am in the same old mill,
A commonplace fellow, still standing still!"

"It's work that's wanted; it's work that wins;
It's in work alone that success begins.
So if to the post ahead you'd climb,
You must work your way to it, every time."

Today's Talk

ON EARNING A LIVING

One of the very first things taught a boy is to earn his own living—to be self-dependent, or self-reliant. And it is the first thing that the parent bird or animal also teaches its young. I once knew a man very well who was "kicked out of his home," according to his own words. He slept the first night upon the grass of the Capitol of his State. He later became a millionaire and a noted newspaper publisher!

If every able man merely earned his living he would be doing well. But ambition is a thing that cannot always be controlled. A mere living is only an incident with most men of ideas and enterprise. But all too often too much is paid for what one gets. What does it profit a man if he builds a great business or piles up a big balance in the bank if he ruins his health in the process?

Possessions mean too much to so many. In Nature, for example, we have the perfect retreat from worry, anxiety and trouble. The marts of trade, with their demands, the endless noises of busy streets, and the contest for gain and superior power melt away in value when Nature is taken to one's heart. She is not controlled. She welcomes the poorest and the humblest. She is extravagant in what she gives—"without money and without price."

It bothered Thoreau to be tied to a job. For a while he made pencils, and when he figured that he could have made them as good as they could be, he stopped making them, for he saw no interest in going further. He only worked enough to get his bread. Beyond this his living was living. He drank deep from the springs of knowledge that Nature placed before his lips. He knew the flowers, the weeds, the smallest creature of the wild, and he knew each by name! And then he wrote great books about his observations and his thoughts. What a living this man earned—and what a gift to all posterity!

Work is the savior of all men. But all work should enrich and add strength and character, as well, to him who works. From the time that we earn our actual living, we should become a creator and a benefactor, not a hoarder or a financial drone!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Remember The Best."

WAR CRIMINAL PROCEDURE OF GREAT IMPORT

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

Woven into Justice Robert H. Jackson's plans for the prosecution of war criminals are ideas of such import that they are likely to become historic.

Justice Jackson proclaims the right to try the makers of war for making the war, the right, when civilization itself is outraged, to impose sentences which were not provided prior to the crime, and the right of humanity to sit in judgment.

In answer to those who fear we cannot reach the Nazi criminals through present international law, and who feel the sanctity of legal precedent is more important than any miscarriage which may occur through its preservation, he says there is no reason international law should not be built up as we have built our own common law—through the application of public conscience to incidents of the moment.

War-Making A Crime

The justice proposes to try whole organizations—the Nazi party, the SS, the Gestapo—and then put it to the members individually to offer mitigating evidence as to the effect of their connections.

He does not believe that anyone who commits a new crime, or who devises variations on an old one with which public conscience is only now catching up, should go free until a law is passed (especially when there is as yet no organization for passing the law) which would only catch the next offender.

Mr. Jackson is insistent that all we do in this case shall be capable of standing the searching light of history—that aggressive war-making shall stand from now on as prima facie crime, established as such in passionless dignity, and punishable.

He is preparing for the United States to proceed alone in individual cases if necessary, but is hopeful for establishment of an international tribunal which can truthfully be said to represent the peace loving peoples of the world.

International Equality

And in this we come to what may be the most historic portion of the whole pronouncement.

There have been international courts, and there is talk of a new one. Never yet has there been a real one, nor is there now any immediate prospect. But Justice Jackson's proposal to make the war criminal trials something like what lawyers call a case in equity, contains the germ of something far more important than the immediate fate of the war criminals.

Equity, in Anglo-Saxon legal procedure, is the application of right and justice to the settlement of disputes which the law does not cover specifically. Under the law, it is primarily a civil procedure.

So here we have the possible foundation of a great international court founded on equity.

Two Women Are Hurt In Crash

Two women were injured, one seriously, in a collision of two automobiles Sunday night about 9:15 o'clock on the Harrisburg pike two miles from Carlisle.

The most seriously hurt is Mrs. Hilda Ward, 27, Carlisle, who was admitted to Carlisle hospital for treatment of a fractured knee cap, contusions of the left shoulder and lacerations of the lower lip.

She was a passenger in the automobile operated by William Tulenko, of Pittsburgh, a soldier. The other car was operated by Charlotte Shellenberger, 22, of East Berlin, R. 1, who was treated at the hospital for laceration of the lower lip and left knee. She was driving a car owned by her brother, Dale.

According to state police of the Carlisle substation who investigated, Miss Shellenberger, traveling toward Carlisle, attempted to make a left turn into the road at the Morrison auto junk yard and collided with Tulenko's car which was traveling toward Harrisburg. Tulenko was unhurt.

Jap Diet Broils Over War Decrees

(By The Associated Press)

A request by the cabinet for power to rule by imperial decree met such vigorous objections in the Japanese diet (parliament) over the week-end that the law making body will be unable to conclude deliberations on the matter until today, the Domei news agency reported Monday.

"Unexpectedly heated debate that took place in the lower house" marked the extraordinary session which had been called to pass the measure which would by-pass the diet's law making powers, Domei said in a broadcast recorded by the Federal Communications commission. The debate arose from members fearful lest the proposal result in eventual elimination of the parliamentary group.

Mrs. Jennie S. Croil will sail on Saturday with a party of friends for a eight weeks' visit to England, Scotland, France and Switzerland.

Notes On Japanese Beetles

It is necessary to understand the quite simple life cycle of the Japanese beetle in order to plan an effective campaign of control. The high points to remember are: (1) The adult beetle lays its eggs in mid-summer, usually in a sandy soil where there is sod; (2) The eggs hatch soon into tiny grubs or larvae; (3) The grubs feed on roots of nearby plants until early October, when they burrow deeper into the soil (6 to 8 inches deep) to spend the winter; (4) In March they begin to work their way toward the ground surface, feeding again on grass roots and the underground parts of numerous other plants; (5) They emerge again as adult beetles in June.

Stirring infested soils from August until early October and again throughout April and May will expose many grubs. But of course, where the pests propagate in lawn sod or in meadows, this course of action is impractical or impossible.

Arsenate of lead mixed with dry sand to permit easy application should be broadcast over infested lawns in late June or early July at the rate of 1 pound of insecticide to 100 square feet. This should be watered into the soil at once to remove poison dangers. One such treatment usually renders lawn soil free from Japanese grub infestation for four or five years, besides it kills numerous grubs which would otherwise develop into adult beetles the following year.

Spray Is Repellent

Rhubarb, asparagus and beans are the three vegetable crops most likely to suffer from Japanese beetle attacks. Coating the foliage of these and other infested plants with fine hydrated lime will reduce infestation to a minimum. The same remedy is recommended for protecting sweet corn from injury, applications made at intervals of two to three days early in the silking period.

If garden beans are sprayed or dusted with rotenone to combat the Mexican bean beetle, they will not be severely damaged by Japanese beetles. However it is wise to watch all crops for attacks and remember that the pests are repelled by the white coating of lime. Of course, lime is not a poison; it serves entirely as a repellent.

Kill The Grubs

Work garden soils deeply in early October and again in late March to kill the grubs then near the ground surface.

Apple trees, shade trees, deciduous shrubs and other perennial plants may be sprayed with an insecticidal-repellent coating prepared by making a thin paste of 3 ounces of wheat flour and adding it to 5 gallons of water in which 5 ounces of arsenate of lead has been dissolved. Do not apply this spray on crops whose edible parts are exposed, especially near their harvest time. Too, do not use it on peach trees, as it may injure their foliage.

Grape foliage may be protected from the Japanese beetle, by a spray coating of one-fourth pound of aluminum sulphate in 5 gallons of water in which 1 pound of hydrated lime has been mixed. Make a paste of each ingredient before adding it to the main quantity of water.

Trapping adult beetles is an effective way to keep the population of the parent pests reduced. There are several good types of traps on the market.

As a general principle, Japanese beetles are immune to ordinary insecticides. Therefore, experimentation with poisons is wasteful and quite useless, particularly while other crops need protection from other pests which can be controlled by proved insecticides.

KING'S PARTY WINS ELECTION ON SLIM MARGIN

Ottawa, June 12 (AP)—Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King's government was in office today for another term, late returns from yesterday's general election giving it a slim majority in the new House of Commons with the aid of 45 straight Liberals and eight supporting independent-Liberals from the French-speaking province of Quebec.

The results were based entirely on civilian votes and may be affected by the ballots of service men and women at home and abroad which are not to be counted for another ten days. There are approximately 750,000 eligible in the armed services, of whom about 500,000 were expected to vote.

King and his party, who have governed Canada continuously since 1935 and for 18 of the years since 1921, won easily over their nearest rivals, the Progressive Conservatives, but had their previous overwhelming majority cut sharply.

Liberal Strength Cut

The Liberals won 118 of the new parliament's 245 seats and were leading in two others. With eight Quebec Independent-Liberals elected, this gave the government a majority of at least 126 seats. The Progressive Conservatives won 82 seats and were leading in three.

The Socialistic CCF (Cooperative Commonwealth Federation) elected 26 members, the third largest group in the new parliament, increasing its strength as expected from the west but electing only one candidate from the east.

In the last parliament, dissolved at the end of its five-year term in April, the Liberals had 160 seats, the Conservatives 40 and the CCF 10. Minor parties and independents made up the remainder.

NAZI SPIRIT IN BERLIN SEEKING TO SPLIT ALLIES

By EDDY GILMORE

Berlin, June 9 (Delayed) (AP)—The spirit of Nazism still lives in Berlin, virulent and brazen and with temerity enough to come out on the street and spread propaganda aimed at playing one of Allies off against another.

Houses have been and are being set afire by Hitler youths and at least two Russian officers have been shot and killed by snipers.

Without question some followers of Hitler are performing just as the Russians predicted they would—carrying on operations behind the backs of the Allies and seeking to spread the seed of distrust and commit sabotage wherever they can.

"See You Next War"

I was walking alone near what is now being used as the town hall when a young German about 17 or 18 rode up on a bicycle.

He looked around him in a guarded way and said: "We have just finished a war with the Russians and you will have a war with them too." He talked on and on. It was the old Nazi line the same as they had used during the war.

A Red army officer appeared down the street. "So long," said the young German hopping on his bicycle and peddling off. "See you next war."

I talked to about 50 Germans in Berlin and most of them are quick to argue that Germany was not to blame for the war. While condemning Hitler publicly is very popular the childishness of this tactic is very apparent. The Germans mechanically wait for your applause for saying nasty things about their late foe.

In a bar on Kant street a young German in civilian clothes—obviously fresh out of the Wehrmacht or the SS—held a lengthy discussion with me after offering me a non-alcoholic cocktail.

"Always Misunderstood"

"Germany," he said, "has always been misunderstood. Look at all of this destruction. Why do this to one of the great centers of world culture? I hope you will pardon me, but your American aviators were slightly barbarous. I cannot see any other point in such wanton destruction. How would you like to look at your monuments of beauty and culture all ruined?"

Being in Berlin with all this destruction around, one hardly expects the populace to throw roses at anyone wearing an American, British or Russian uniform, but I was unprepared for the way most of the

"Where is the road to the post ahead?"
A youngster inquired, and an old man said:
"I missed it myself; but, I know to-day
That the road called 'Work' is the only way."
"Time was I fancied my worth was hid;
That no one would notice the task I did.
I sulked at orders, and frowned at toil
And sneered at the burners of mid-night oil.
"I counted the hours, and measured the pay
And I did no more than my stint each day.
So, here I am in the same old mill,
A commonplace fellow, still standing still!"
"It's work that's wanted; it's work that wins;
It's in work alone that success begins.
So if to the post ahead you'd climb,
You must work your way to it, every time."

Today's Talk

ON EARNING A LIVING

One of the very first things taught a boy is to earn his own living—to be self-dependent, or self-reliant. And it is the first thing that the parent bird or animal also teaches its young. I once knew a man very well who was "kicked out of his home," according to his own words. He slept the first night upon the grass of the Capitol of his State. He later became a millionaire and a noted newspaper publisher!

If every able man merely earned his living he would be doing well. But ambition is a thing that cannot always be controlled. A mere living is only an incident with most men of ideas and enterprise. But all too often too much is paid for what one gets. What does it profit a man if he builds a great business or piles up a big balance in the bank if he ruins his health in the process?

Possessions mean too much to so many. In Nature, for example, we have the perfect retreat from worry, anxiety and trouble. The marts of trade, with their demands, the endless noises of busy streets, and the contest for gain and superior power melt away in value when Nature is taken to one's heart. She is not controlled. She welcomes the poorest and the humblest. She is extravagant in what she gives—"without money and without price."

It bothered Thoreau to be tied to a job. For a while he made pencils, and when he figured that he had made them as good as they could be, he stopped making them, for he saw no interest in going further. He only worked enough to get his bread. Beyond this his living was living. He drank deep from the springs of knowledge that Nature placed before his lips. He knew the flowers, the weeds, the smallest creature of the wild, and he knew each by name! And then he wrote great books about his observations and his thoughts. What a living this man earned—and what a gift to all posterity!

Work is the savior of all men. But all work should enrich and add strength and character, as well, to him who works. From the time that we earn our actual living, we should become a creator and a benefactor, not a hoarder or a financial drone!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Remember The Best."

WAR CRIMINAL PROCEDURE OF GREAT IMPORT

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

Woven into Justice Robert H. Jackson's plans for the prosecution of war criminals are ideas of such import that they are likely to become historic.

Justice Jackson proclaims the right to try the makers of war for making the war, the right, when civilization itself is outraged, to impose sentences which were not provided prior to the crime, and the right of humanity to sit in judgment.

In answer to those who fear we cannot reach the Nazi criminals through present international law, and who feel the sanctity of legal precedent is more important than any miscarriage which may occur through its preservation, he says there is no reason international law should not be built up as we have built our own common law—through the application of public conscience to incidents of the moment.

War-Making A Crime
The Justice proposes to try whole organizations—the Nazi party, the SS, the Gestapo—and then put it up to the members individually to offer mitigating evidence as to the effect of their connections.

He does not believe that anyone who commits a new crime, or who devises variations on an old one with which public conscience is only now catching up, should go free until a law is passed (especially when there is as yet no organization for passing the law) which would only catch the next offender.

Mr. Jackson is insistent that all we do in this case shall be capable of standing the searching light of history—that aggressive war-making shall stand from now on as prima facie crime, established as such in passionless dignity, and punishable.

He is preparing for the United States to proceed alone in individual cases if necessary, but is hopeful for establishment of an international tribunal which can truthfully be said to represent the peace loving peoples of the world.

International Equality
And in this we come to what may be the most historic portion of the whole pronouncement.

There have been international courts, and there is talk of a new one. Never yet has there been a real one, nor is there now any immediate prospect. But Justice Jackson's proposal to make the war criminal trials something like what lawyers call a case in equity, contains the germ of something far more important than the immediate fate of the war criminals.

Equity, in Anglo-Saxon legal procedure, is the application of right and justice to the settlement of disputes which the law does not cover specifically. Under the law, it is primarily a civil procedure.

So here we have the possible foundation of a great international court founded on equity.

Two Women Are Hurt In Crash

Two women were injured, one seriously, in a collision of two automobiles Sunday night about 9:15 o'clock on the Harrisburg pike two miles from Carlisle.

The most seriously hurt is Mrs. Hilda Ward, 27, Carlisle, who was admitted to Carlisle hospital for treatment of a fractured knee cap, contusions of the left shoulder and lacerations of the lower lip.

She was a passenger in the automobile operated by William Tulenko, of Pittsburgh, a soldier. The other car was operated by Charlotte Shellenberger, 22, of East Berlin, R. I., who was treated at the hospital for laceration of the lower lip and left knee. She was driving a car owned by her brother, Dale.

According to state police of the Carlisle substation who investigated, Miss Shellenberger, traveling toward Carlisle, attempted to make a left turn into the road at the Morrison auto junk yard and collided with Tulenko's car which was traveling toward Harrisburg. Tulenko was unhurt.

Jap Diet Broils Over War Decrees

(By The Associated Press.)
A request by the cabinet for power to rule by imperial decree met such vigorous objections in the Japanese diet (parliament) over the week-end that the law making body will be unable to conclude deliberations on the matter until today, the Domei news agency reported Monday.

"Unexpectedly heated debate that took place in the lower house" marked the extraordinary session which had been called to pass the measure which would by-pass the diet's law making powers, Domei said in a broadcast recorded by the Federal Communications commission. The debate arose from members' fearful lest the proposal result in eventual elimination of the parliamentary group.

Synod which is in session at Hagers-town.

Mrs. Jennie S. Croil will sail on Saturday with a party of friends for na eight weeks' visit to England, Scotland, France and Switzerland.

Notes On Japanese Beetles

It is necessary to understand the quite simple life cycle of the Japanese beetle in order to plan an effective campaign of control. The high points to remember are: (1) The adult beetle lays its eggs in mid-summer, usually in a sandy soil where there is sod; (2) The eggs hatch soon into tiny grubs or larvae; (3) The grubs feed on roots of nearby plants until early October, when they burrow deeper into the soil (6 to 8 inches deep) to spend the winter; (4) In March they begin to work their way toward the ground surface, feeding again on grass roots and the underground parts of numerous other plants; (5) They emerge again as adult beetles in June.

Stirring infested soils from August until early October and again throughout April and May will expose many grubs. But of course, where the pests propagate in lawn sod or in meadows, this course of action is impractical or impossible.

Arsenate of lead mixed with dry sand to permit easy application should be broadcast over infested lawns in late June or early July at the rate of 1 pound of insecticide to 100 square feet. This should be watered into the soil at once to remove poison dangers. One such treatment usually renders lawn soil free from Japanese grub infestation for four or five years, besides it kills numerous grubs which would otherwise develop into adult beetles the following year.

Spray Is Repellent

Rhubarb, asparagus and beans are the three vegetable crops most likely to suffer from Japanese beetle attacks. Coating the foliage of these and other infested plants with fine hydrated lime will reduce infestation to a minimum. The same remedy is recommended for protecting sweet corn from injury, applications made at intervals of two to three days early in the silking period.

If garden beans are sprayed or dusted with rotenone to combat the Mexican bean beetle, they will not be severely damaged by Japanese beetles. However it is wise to watch all crops for attacks and remember that the pests are repelled by the white coating of lime. Of course, lime is not a poison; it serves entirely as a repellent.

Kill The Grubs

Work garden soils deeply in early October and again in late March to kill the grubs then near the ground surface.

Apple trees, shade trees, deciduous shrubs and other perennial plants may be sprayed with an insecticidal-repellant coating prepared by making a thin paste of 3 ounces of wheat flour and adding it to 5 gallons of water in which 5 ounces of arsenate of lead has been dissolved. Do not apply this spray on crops whose edible parts are exposed, especially near their harvest time. Too, do not use it on peach trees, as it may injure their foliage.

Grape foliage may be protected from the Japanese beetle, by a spray coating of one-fourth pound of aluminum sulphate in 5 gallons of water in which 1 pound of hydrated lime has been mixed. Make a paste of each ingredient before adding it to the main quantity of water.

Trapping adult beetles is an effective way to keep the population of the parent pests reduced. There are several good types of traps on the market.

As a general principle, Japanese beetles are immune to ordinary insecticides. Therefore, experimentation with poisons is wasteful and quite useless, particularly while other crops need protection from other pests which can be controlled by proved insecticides.

KING'S PARTY WINS ELECTION ON SLIM MARGIN

Ottawa, June 12 (AP)—Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King's government was in office today for another term, late returns from yesterday's general election giving it a slim majority in the new House of Commons with the aid of 45 straight Liberals and eight supporting independent-Liberals from the French-speaking province of Quebec.

The results were based entirely on civilian votes and may be affected by the ballots of service men and women at home and abroad which are not to be counted for another ten days. There are approximately 750,000 eligible in the armed services, of whom about 500,000 were expected to vote.

King and his party, who have governed Canada continuously since 1935 and for 18 of the years since 1921, won easily over their nearest rivals, the Progressive Conservatives, but had their previous overwhelming majority cut sharply.

Liberal Strength Cut

The Liberals won 118 of the new parliament's 245 seats and were leading in two others. With eight Quebec Independent-Liberals elected, this gave the government a majority of at least 126 seats. The Progressive Conservatives won 62 seats and were leading in three.

The Socialistic CCF (Cooperative Commonwealth Federation) elected 26 members, the third largest group in the new parliament, increasing its strength as expected from the west but electing only one candidate from the east.

In the last parliament, dissolved at the end of its five-year term in April, the Liberals had 160 seats, the Conservatives 40 and the CCF 10. Minor parties and independents made up the remainder.

Late Rally Wins For Trenton Nine
(By The Associated Press)

A seventh inning four run rally gave the Trenton Spartans a 7-6 victory over the York White Roses in an Interstate league game played at Trenton last night. The game was the opener of a five-game series.

George Armstrong's home run with two aboard in the eighth inning gave Lancaster, league leader, a 7-6 victory over Hagerstown. The Roses staged off an Owl rally in the ninth. Less McCrabb was the winning pitcher.

The Wilmington-Allentown game was postponed because of rain.

Today's schedule: Wilmington at Allentown, 2 games; Hagerstown at Lancaster and York at Trenton.

James Lind, an 18th century physician, eliminated scurvy from the British navy by his insistence on cleanliness and proper food.

BUCKY WALTERS AGAIN BEATEN BY CARDINALS

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Sherlock Holmes should get to work on the mysterious case of Bucky Walters vs. the St. Louis Cardinals. The baseball writers are about ready to give up.

In 1944 when the Red Birds had Stan Musial, Walker Cooper and an air-tight pitching staff that included Mort Cooper and Max Lanier, Walters had only to throw his glove on the hill and the world-champs-to-be rolled over and played dead.

Six straight times the converted third sacker threw his fast one past Billy Southworth's gang and never once was he beaten. Four of the victories were shutouts and he yielded only four runs and 37 hits in 58 innings on the mound.

Now with the Cards' big guns spiked Musial and Walker Cooper in the navy, Lanier wearing a soldier suit and Mort Cooper in Boston—Walters has trouble getting the side out in old St. Lou.

Kayed Twice

Three appearances against the world champs have failed to put any meat and potatoes on the Walters' family table. Twice he was knocked out and the other time he was ushered to an early shower after an argument with Umpire Lou Jorda in the second inning of a 0-0 game.

Pitted against Charley (Red) Barrett in last night's only major league contest, Bucky was belted out after yielding all the runs of a 5-0 shellacking in the first two frames.

So the top winner of the National a year ago when he copped 23 games and tossed six shutouts, now has won four and lost six and been blanked four times. It's a strange twist of fate.

Despite Cooper's success with the Braves, owner Sam Breadon of the Cardinals can find justification for the deal in the fine performances of Barrett since he donned a Red Bird suit. The "other guy" in the Cooper trade has won four or five for the Champs and appears to be Southworth's most dependable starter.

Top Road Clubs

With all other clubs idle, the Cards climbed past Chicago into the first division on their triumph and trail New York by only 2½ games.

Off the records of the first eight weeks of the season, approximately one third, only Pittsburgh and Detroit, the two runner-up teams, have the stuff to win on the road where pennant clubs are supposed to maintain at least a 500 level.

The Pirates have had a tough struggle to gain an 11-10 edge away from home but the Tigers find the going easier away from Briggs stadium for a 13-9 road record.

The Giants have the best home park percentage in either league, 17-4 for 810, followed by the Yanks who have lost only seven of 26 stadium starts.

UTICA GRABS LEAD
(By The Associated Press)

Utica is the latest club to grab the easy-to-get but hard-to-hold Eastern League leadership. The Blue Sox downed Wilkes-Barre in 11 innings last night to hop into first place, half a game over idle Williamsport and Elmira. Binghamton sank further into the cellar as the Triplets bowed to Scranton 4-3. The Albany-Williamsport and Hartford-Elmira games were rained out.

Next season Columbia is hopeful of joining the Lancaster county scholastic league.

New York, June 12 (AP)—Dudley Noble, Mississippi State coach who started the celebrated Boo Ferriss on the road to big league baseball, has another alumnus on the Red Sox—catcher Fred Walters... Fred is a second-stringer with Boston but in Mississippi he's remembered as the guy who caught a pass from Pee Wee Armstrong as Miss. State beat Army in 1935... Tippy Larkin, welterweight champ Red Cochrane's former nemesis, has okayed a boxing career for his kid brother, Vinnie... Sixteen-year-old Vinnie will make his amateur debut this week.

The San Francisco Olympic club likely will send a team to the National A. A. U. track championships this year after skipping several meets.

Chances are the Empire city race track will go into the discard after the war unless the trotters take it over. Col. Nashville, Tenn., may lose its two-year National Champion team, the Consolidated Vultee girls' basketball team, because the company is shutting down there.

Lt. Marshall Goldberg writes his old boss, Charley Bidwill of the Chicago Cardinals, that he won't be playing pro football when he gets out of the Navy... Size apparently means little to Pte. Peter Zollo, soldier heavyweight from Providence, R. I. Red Cochrane Gets 4th Straight K.O.

Atlanta, June 12 (AP)—Freddie (Red) Cochrane, world's welterweight boxing champion, has four witnesses who probably will echo his statement that after three years in the navy he isn't "hitting as fast, but hitting much harder."

The 28-year-old Elizabeth, N. J., redhead, a veteran of two years in the south Pacific, stopped Eddie Miller of St. Louis, here last night to score his fourth straight second-round knockout in eleven days—three in four days.

Miller, the fourth of five opponents Cochrane is meeting in a tune-up campaign before engaging Rocky Graziana in Madison Square Garden June 29, was floored four times in the first round and went down to stay after 55 seconds of the second heat, without landing an effective blow.

Joseph Henry was the man who first conceived the idea for the construction of the electro-magnet.

DIVER MAY NOT RUN HANDICAP

Baltimore, June 12 (AP)—Greentree stable's Devil Diver, currently tops in the 1945 field of older horses, was assigned top weight of 132 pounds today for the 42nd renewal of the $30,000 added Dixie handicap to be run at Pimlico Saturday on the same card with the $50,000 added Preakness stakes.

Maryland Jockey club officials could not say definitely, however, whether Devil Diver would be on hand at Pimlico or compete in the $50,000-added suburban handicap scheduled for Belmont Park at New York the same afternoon.

This year, in a single day of racing that may approach the all-time one-day purse record of $181,010 for the Belmont futurity card in 1929, the Preakness candidates headed by F. W. Hooper's Hoop, Jr., Kentucky Derby winner, will hold the limelight.

They must share, however, some honors with the Pimlico Oaks for three-year-old fillies and the nursery stakes for two-year-olds, in addition to the Dixie.

A year ago, Greentree stable's Dockstader, trimmed Hoop, Jr., in the nursery, but Greentree reports that Dockstader is a coughing victim and only a "fair possibility" for the mile and three sixteenths Preakness.

SPORT SHORTS

Pittsburgh, June 12 (AP)—Clark Shaughnessy struggled into an old black and gold football jersey today, brought some "T"-formation plays up to date with a few swift jabs of crayon, and set about molding his third University of Pittsburgh grid team.

"We hope and expect to restore Pitt to the heights in football," the lean gray-thatched coach declared. "But," he tempered, "so long as the war lasts, football is definitely secondary to the other functions of the university."

Employment Service Lauded For Efficiency

Harrisburg, June 12 (AP)—Regional Director Paul C. Lewis, of the War Manpower Commission today credited job placement activities of the U. S. Employment Service and the WMC stabilization program with holding Pennsylvania jobless benefit claims to the lowest since compensation became effective in 1937.

Lewis said in a statement that compensation claims averaging 3-706 a week "have set an outstanding record low for the group of larger states comprising New York, Illinois, California and the Keystone state," adding:

"The fine record for Pennsylvania should be continued as the War Manpower Commission's U. S. Employment Service, geared to transfer workers from war production to civilian production jobs, hopes to keep the number of unemployed workers in Pennsylvania at a minimum."

Lewis said Pennsylvania's jobless benefit claim load compares with 21,800 in California, 11,300 in New York and 7,300 in Illinois.
